FIRST BATTALION MADE IMPREGNABLE STAND

COULD NOT HAVE BEEN ROUTED HAD THEIR GUNS SPIT BULLETS.

SHAM BATTLE GREAT SUCCESS

Third Regiment Leaves Tomorrow and Sixth Regiment Moves Into Camp.

Ten thousand rounds of ammunition were shot in about twenty minutes this morning by the Third regiment in their sham battle on the Truman farm when the Second and Third battalions attacked the First in their position on the top of a high knoll, a position said to have been practically impregnable by some of the non-combatant officers who watched the manouevers.

Most of the morning was spent in getting the troops of the opposing forces in position and in manouevering for advantageous points of attack and defense. The firing started about 10 o'clock, when the second battalion opened fire on the first from a vantage point behind a long row of cordwood piled up to the east of the hill on which the soldiers of the first battalion were located. A part of the third executed a flank movement around into a fringe of trees to the south of the hill and part of the Second worked their way up toward the defenders of the hill through the long grass on a gradual slope at the north, firing as they went and making short charges and then dropping to fire.

The soldiers in the trees south of the hill kept up a hot fire but they were in a poor position if he guns had been loaded with real bullets, for the men of the First were hidden on the hilltop and could have been picked off by the fighters at the bottom of the hill with ease and safety to themselves. The same is said of the companies who charged up the hill through the open, for they had considerable distance to come and the defending force could be in no danger from them until they had traversed the entire distance, and by that time there wouldn't have been a live one in the bunch of the First kept up its good record for marksmanship.

The main and most spectacular charge of the morning was the last one when the Second battalion and part of the Third swept up the east face of the hill, keeping up a running fire and charging into the rows of viciously flame spitting rifles.

The boys were pretty brave and they overstepped orders a little in the matter of distance. They were not supposed to get any closer to each other than 200 yards, but the windup found them almost poking the muzzles of their guns into each other's eyes and firing. They would stand up i nthe open only a few feet apart and go through with a deadly appearing duel, firing pointblank at each other's heads until their guns were empty and then sit down and borrow the "makings" of a cigarette.

Little by little the rattle of rifle shots from various parts of the battlegrounds slackened until there was only a scattering fire from some of the warriors who were overly bloodthirsty and finally these stopped and the officers got their mounts and met in a truce and peace council on the top of the hill, while the soldiers were gathered together and the roll was called to determine the lits of dead, wounded and missing. There were a few missing, but fatalities there were none and most of the wounds that were uncovered were caused by the thorns of the berry bushes and the horns of the mosquitoes.

No decisions were rendered by the umpires and none were expected. There was no winning or losing side, it was simply a matter of schooling in manoeuvers and active field work.

The soldiers started on the march back to camp about 11 o'clock. This afternoon was an idle one at camp, for everyone was tired and the soldiers were given the afternoon off.

An audience of two or three hundred men, women and children watched the military spectacle and came home loaded down with empty shells. The kodak fiends were there strong and some good snap shots were taken.

Third Leaves Tomorrow.

The camp will be active in the morning with incoming and outgoing troops. The Third regiment will depart for their homes, many of them marching through Dixon to the C. & N. W. depot, and the Sixth regiment will come in for a week's camp.

After the Third regiment had marched through the city yesterday afternoon they stopped at the home of Mayor W. B. Brinton in North Dixon, and the mayor held a reception for the officers of the regiment in his residence. The soldiers dropped down on the lawn to rest and the band rendered several old fashioned military airs.

TRACKS TO BE MOVED TO ONE SIDE AND STREET PAVED.

City Engineer L. B. A copy of the print was sent to Division Engineer J. S. Robinson of the Northwestern and it may be expected that within a short time the company will have a force of men at work in the street. All of the tracks are to be raised and moved to the north side of the street. It is hoped to pave the street eventually.

TEACHERS PROFIT BY MEETING IN DIXON

COUNTY INSTITUTE THIS WEEK MAD ENEW RECORD FOR ATTENDANCE.

INSTRUCTION WAS INSPIRATION

Schools of County Are Now Prepared To Open Their Fall Terms.

The registration of the Lee county teachers' institute passed the 300 mark at noon today and the most optimistic hopes of Mr. Miller have thus been realized. When the afternoon session commenced today the registration brought the mark to 301, a new record for Lee county.

The interest in the instructions of the specialists, which Mr. Miller secured for the institute, continues and the teachers have really been spoiled by the excellence of the work given them by the instructors. They have remarkable ability to present their work and doubtless it is this, together with their exceptional knowledge of what they are presenting, that accounts for the interest.

Two Addresses Today.

Two very strong addresses were given this morning. E. A. Williams of Monticello, Minn., entertained the teachers with a presentation of the Minnesota school situation, its effects and prospects, and in his reference to the iron industry and its effects on the schools he showed wonderfully clear thought.

Prof. John G. Coulter of Bloomington, one of the most prominent educators in his line in the state, addressed the institute on Nature Study and Agriculture in the School, and as a result of his remarks it is certain all of the teachers will give more attention to these details in the coming year. Prof. Coulter is bubbling over with enthusiasm for this phase of school life and he imparts it to his hearers.

The institute, the most successful in the history of the county, will close late this afternoon.

"OLD SATAN" HOLDS A BANQUET

AND EATS ALL OF THE REPAST HIMSELF AT THE CARNIVAL.

About 11 o'clock last night, after all the rare and curious animals and reptiles at the Parker carnival had been placed to rest, "Old Satan" showed signs of hostilities. He acted in such a strange manner that H. S. Polson, manager of the Edwards Jungle and Animal shows, was compelled to call for assistance in order to get Old Satan in his box.

After being placed in the box he informed Mr. Polson, manager and caterer of the show, that he was hungry and that the best was none too good for him. A chicken weighing 4 1-2 pounds was quickly given Old Satan and he demolished it in quick time and showed signs of wanting more. Not knowing what to give Old Satan to satisfy him, Mr. Polson took one of the pigs, which weighed 32 1-2 pounds, out of the pen and gave it to the big big serpent. Old Satan did not stop to have it cut into pork chops or tender loins, but commenced the work of demolition. In exactly 28 minutes the pig had gone to his last resting place.

You ought to see Old Satan today. He is as big around as a telephone pole, and as long, too, as he measures 32 feet in length.

The various shows drew large crowds last night and the grounds were filled with visitors during the entire evening.

PERU CITY BOARD INSPECTS DIXON STREETS

The board of local improvements and the city attorney of Peru are here today inspecting the tarvia streets, which fortunately were cleaned and rolled this week. The Peru city council has just let the contract for the building of a large number of tarvia streets in that city and it was because of this the board was here today.

UNFATHERLY ACT OF DIXON FELLOW

CAUSES A YOUNG MOTHER TO SEEK HOMES FOR HER CHILDREN.

Wanted. Home for a bright, brown-eyed boy of two years. Address X2 this office.

The above want ad brought to this office this morning by a young mother, presents one of the closing chapters of a home and family broken up by the inhumanity of a yonug fellow who, at one time, was probably called a young man.

The story is not long, but it is almost brutal in its pathos. But little over a month ago, when this young wife returned from the hospital, during which time her husband had been keeping company with another woman, she suffered a relapse and was unable to leave her bed.

This worthtless brute stayed around the house until all the food was gone, then deserted her, leaving her with two little children, aged four and two years. Since then he has not contributed one cent toward her support, but has been spending all his time and money on other women.

The enfeebled girl-wife has not been able to work since then, and a short time ago found it necessary to part with the oldest child, which has been adopted into a good home at Nachusa. And the final story of her struggle is shown in the above want ad.

The fellow, who cares so little for his two bright children and who is willing to see them taken into other homes, is working in the livery barns about the city and should be ostracised by all self-respecting, decency-loving people.

The matter will probably come up in the next term of court, as friends of the young lady have volunteered assistance in securing her legal aid.

M. J. GANNON TO ATTEND REUNION

OF HIS REGIMENT, THE 54TH, IN NEW YORK STATE NEXT WEEK.

Commissioner Martin J. Gannon will leave tomorrow to attend the national G. A. R. encampment at Rochester, N. Y. and also to be present at a reunion of his regiment, the 54th N. Y., which will be held in conjunction with the national encampment. The reunion of the regiment will probably bring every surviving member of the body to New York City, as arrangements have been made to pay the transportation and expenses of all members who cannot afford the trip. Mr. Gannon expects to be gone about two weeks, during which time Commissioner Schmidt will have charge of his department of the city's affairs.

Mr. Gannon's daughter, Miss Gertrude, and his son in law, L. E. McGrael of Milwaukee, will join him n Chicago and accompany him east. During his absence and for the rest of the summer his two daughters, Mrs. Uhl of St. Louis and Mrs. McGrael of Milwaukee, will visit at the Gannon home here.

TWO WERE HURT IN A RUNAWAY

CARL WIDKINT AND DICK JOHNSON OF ELDENA THROWN FROM WAGON.

Carl Widkint of Eldena was slightly injured in a runaway at the corner of Fellows street and Galena avenue this morning, and Dick Johnson, who lives a mile north of that place and whose horses ran away, narrowly escaped injury. As the horses were turning the corner there a bolt fell out of the running gear and frightened the horses. Mr. Johnson jumped but caught his legs in the lines, throwing him to the pavement and frightening the horses. Mr. Widkint was thrown out and sustained a badly bruised arm. The tongue of the wagon was broken and other slight damage resulted.

BEST OF TALENT FOR "Y" COURSE

ENTERTAINMENTS ARE ARRANGED FOR THE FALL AND WINTER.

FIVE NUMBERS ARE BOOKED

Will Be a Musical and Literary Treat For the People of Dixon.

A number one course of entertainments has been booked for the fall and winter by the entertainment committee of the Y. M. C. A. They will be looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation by lovers of the best in music, vocal and instrumental, and true oratory.

The course this year is composed of five different programs, and each is of the highest class. They will be given in the Dixon opera house, commencing in November.

First in line is the English Opera Singers. This company comes very near the ideal in aims and attainments. They give scenes from grand opera in costume, scenes from popular opera, popular selections and numbers from the best oratorios The personnel follows: Walter H. Flora, tenor; Charlotte Simpson, dramatic soprano; C. Ethel Hirt, mezzo soprano; Harry C. Lombard, baritone; Bertha Parker, pianist. The committee believes the aim of this attraction is in line with present day demand.

Ralph Parlette, humorist, is second. He is said to be the one man who makes people laugh and think at the same time. He has often been termed "The Charles Lamb of Lyceum" because he is both a remarkable writer and a great speaker. This is a composite opinion: High moral tone, humor with great truth behind it; most unique blending of philosophy.

The Lyric Glee Club comes with an enviable reputation as a company of cultured male singers and players. This is their sixth season and they are known from coast to coast as one of the strongest musical organizations in this country.

They constitute Omar Covert, tenor and flute soloist; F. I. Hendry, tenor, cornet soloist and reader; H. M. Doolittle, baritone, trombone soloist and pianist; Tom C. Polk, basso, reader and manager. Their program the coming season is new and contains the best in music and literature.

Henry Clark in his lecture "Play Ball" and "Stop! Look! Listen," has been before over 1200 lyceum chautauquas and other audiences and has delighted them. In hundreds of cities he has been recalled a second, third and fourth time. He appeals to the souls of his listeners for the conservation of health, moral power and happiness as well as material resources. He implies by his optimistic views practical thought. This choice is first class.

The Maude Stevens Concert company is the last and one of the finest in the course. The performers are Miss Maude Stevens, impersonator in costume monologues; Miss Charlotte Chamberlain, pianist and whistler; Miss Maud Kimball, violinist. The violinist, Miss Kimball, is one whose skill and charming simplicity of manner have made her a lyceum favorite. Miss Chamberlin uses whistling as a means of expressing the finest in music. Her whistling numbers are songs without words but having all their sweetness. But a crowning success of this company is Miss Maude Stevens. She is an artist or rare natural ability in impersonation; her delightful personality captivates. She has held the esteem of chautauqua assemblies with the big crowds gathered there for from 8 to 10 consecutive days, and has invariably pleased.

Course tickets and subscriptions for the same are under the management of H. W. Stauffer. Patrons would do well to favor the Dixon Y. M. C. A. by phoning in their orders for course tickets to his phone number, 14316.

Mrs. Angle, wife of Captain Angle, and son are here from Chicago. They are visiting Mrs. W. L. Frye.

ACCIDENT FATAL TO JOHN ENGLAND

GRAND DETOUR MAN KILLED WHILE PULLING STUMPS ON HIS FARM.

John England of Grand Detour died at the Dixon hospital last evening at 9 o'clock from injuries received while pulling stumps on his farm near Grand Detour Wednesday afternoon. Mr. England had been working at the stumps with a stump puller all day and late in the afternoon, while the horses were pulling at an especially big one, the singletree broke, allowing the pole to fly back. It struck him in the pit of the stomach. He was brought to the hospital, but despite the best of medical care he died last night.

The deceased was born at Elburn, Ill., 45 years ago, but has spent most of his life near Grand Detour. Funeral services will be held at Grand Detour Saturday at 2 p. m. and burial will be in Grand Detour cemetery. A more complete obituary will be published later.

RAISE SALOON FEE AND REMOVE LIMIT

THIS IS PLAN IN AN ORDINANCE SUBMITTED BY THE COUNCIL.

CUT DOWN CITY WATER RATES

Ordinance to This Effect Also Prepared—Abandon Second Street Paving.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS AT A GLANCE.

Introduced ordinance making saloon license $1,400 and removing the limit of number of saloons.

Introduced ordinance making radical reduction in water rates.

Passed resolutions abandoning paving of Second street and Commercial alley.

Instructed City Attorney to prepare ordinance for pavement of Commercial alley.

Two ordinances were introduced and filed with City Clerk Blake Grover at the adjourned meeting of the council held this morning, the future passage of which it is hoped by the council will terminate the recent wide discussion of the waterworks and saloon questions. These ordinances will remain on file until some future meeting, during which time the people have ample opportunity to investigate them.

No Limit to Saloons.

The new saloon ordinance which will be voted on in about two weeks, provides for the increase of the yearly saloon license to $1,400, and also removes the limit on the number of dram shops in the city, providing also that the city council shall have the necessary discretionary powers to refuse applications from those whom they think would not be desirable saloon men. The ordinance was placed on file by Commissioner Gannon, after a talkfest by the councilmen, in which many opinions regarding the liquor question were voiced. It is certain that the ordinance will have some opponents in the council, as two of the commissioners stated that they were opposed to an increase in the amount of the license.

Cut Water Rates.

The new water ordinance which will be passed as quickly as the law allows, provides for a very material reduction in all water rates and the smaller consumers are the ones to be most benefitted. It is very probable the passage of the new ordinance will precipitate a fight from the water company, which may carry the matter into the courts.

Under the new act of the council the maximum yearly rental for fire hydrants shall be $30 instead of $40, as at present.

A reduction of 25 per cent is made in all classifications under the private service and flat rate without meter.

Meter rates will be as follows, a reduction for the smaller consumers of about 25 per cent ,while for the larger water users the reduction will be about 10 per cent.

50 to 1000 gal. daily per 1000	15c
1000 to 3000 gal.	14
3000 to 5000 gal.	13
5000 to 10,000 gal.	11
Over 10,000 gal daily	9

The minimum charge per year the water company will be allowed to charge will under the new ordinance be reduced from $5 to $4.

Must Have Pressure.

The new ordinance makes a very wise provision regarding the payment of fire hydrant rental when the pressure has been insufficient. Under the act now on file the water rental is to be paid semi-annually by the city, but only when a certifificate from the commissioner of Public Affairs and the fire marshal shows that within six months a satisfactory test has been made in which 6 fire streams have been played simultan-

A Practical Ideal For the Stout Figure

WE hold that beauty is a matter of proportion not of size. Nowhere is our belief more strongly sustantiated than in

THE Gossard CORSETS "They Lace In Front"

We present herewith "Model B" which proves our proposition.

MODEL B

is designed for short stout figuers with large abdomen and heavy shoulders. Its first aim is to give long lines. This cannot be obtained if the waist is laced in tightly but by having the corset sufficiently long to encase the shoulders and redistribut the surplus flesh. Model B is extremely long below the waist line with a five-inch unboned extension in front. Its bust going holds the bust in easy, natural, permanent position. Its snug fit under the arm gives a desirable flatness. The back, which is sufficiently full at top, and only slightly curving at the waist, controls the flesh at the shoulders and offsets any tendency to a round shouldered effect. The long unboned skirt properly laced holds the bottom of the corset firmly to the body, restrains the flesh from spreading unduly when sitting and obviates any line between hips and thigh.

In our GOSSARD line we offer a special model for each particular type of figure which accentuates the good points and overcomes the poor ones of that figure.

NOISY BUTTERFLIES.

One Species Produces a Sound Like the Snap of a Whip.

One does not think of butterflies as making any sounds, nor of caterpillars as noisy creatures, yet according to the late Samuel Hubbard Scudder in "Frail Children of the Air," the careful student will find some use for his ears when observing the habits of both. Says the author:

It is a fact that certain butterflies produce sound during certain movements. The "whip" butterfly when surprised makes a noise like the snap of a lash by opening and shutting its wings in quick succession. Some hibernating butterflies when disturbed make a faint hissing sound by slowly depressing and raising their wings. The noise thus produced resembles that made by blowing slowly through closed teeth. Other sounds resemble the friction of sandpaper.

A large number of caterpillars make sound by striking the head against the leaf on which they are resting or by swinging the head from side to side, catching the mandibles in the roughness of the leaf or on the silken threads spun on it. It is said that a certain kind of chrysalis when disturbed emits a slight, sharp chirp or clicking noise.

BIG FIGHT LIKELY FOR GOLF TITLE

National Tourney at Rye, N. Y., Promises to Be Hummer.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE EVENT.

With Reduced Number of Entries Better Play Is Anticipated—East to Pin Faith on Old Timers—West to Be Well Represented.

While the national amateur golf championship, which is slated for the Apawamis Gulf club at Rye, N. Y., Sept. 11 to 16, is still some time off, there is widespread interest as to whether the west will have the upper hand again. It will be remembered that of the sixty-four who qualified the first day last year only fifteen were westerners, and in this number are included the Pittsburg representatives. In the second round of qualifying players the number was reduced to thirty-two, and of these ten were from the west and eighteen from the metropolitan and Massachusetts districts. In the first round only five of the western men were left. The second round reduced by one, while the third round found only one westerner left.

The field of 203 players was a record in itself, and so crowded was the course at Brookline, Mass., that twenty players were obliged to finish the first round the following morning.

The feeling is growing in the east that the championship will return to stay, but when one remembers the remarkable lot of premier golfers who represent the western section, particularly around Chicago, it is difficult to tell just on what this feeling is based. Fownes, Evans, Wood, Phelps, the Hunters, Egan, Seckel, Gardner and Legg are the westerners who have made golfing history in the past few years. Of this number only W. C. Fownes, Jr., and Chandler Egan are veterans. The majority of the others are either still in college or are recent graduates.

The east must pin its faith to the old guard represented by Travis, Travers, Herreshoff, Sherman, Ward, Anderson, Whittemore, and on the younger players, most notable of whom are White and Kirby

At all events, the next national championship, particularly in view of the fact that the number of entries will be so reduced that only the best players in the country will contest, promises to be the best struggle in the history of amateur golf in this country. Last year all one had to do was to send a five dollar note as an entry fee. The result was that the Country club was clogged with a host of players who at best, even with their handicaps, would have had no chance in an invitation tournament. The United States Golf association has been working on a plan to reduce the entries to the best in the country and within the next few weeks will make a definite statement as to the conduct of the next tournament.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

We not only invite you—we urge you—to take advantage of our Seventeen-Cents-a-Day Purchase Plan.

This plan was devised for the benefit of the many thousands who are renting machines or doing without them for lack of the ready cash.

In selling you an Oliver Typewriter we meet you more than half way. A small cash payment brings the machine. We willingly wait while you pay at the rate of Seventeen-Cents-a-Day.

We don't want a cent of security. Just your promise to pay is enough.

Thousands Sold for 17-Cents-a-Day

Since we began selling typewriters on this broad-guage plan our business has more than doubled. Tons of metal have been turned into thousands of typewriters and sent all over the world to supply the demand for Olivers—at Seventeen-Cents-a-Day! We have ample capital and confidence to sell typewriters on this plan. Our losses are infinitesimal. The public has justified our confidence in such an impressive manner that today we are just as glad to book orders on the "Penny Plan" as we are for all cash in advance.

Swiftest, Strongest, Simplest, $100 Typewriter

The speed of the Oliver sets a pace that has never yet been excelled. Its strength and endurance are such that it serves you efficiently for a lifetime. No other machine in the $100 class compares with it in simplicity, for we do away with hundreds of parts used on other standard typewriters. The first crude model of the Oliver Typewriter was built from an old wash-boiler and the type of a country print shop. The machine was a curious looking affair, but the principles embodied in its design were destined to revolutionize the typewriter world.

The OLIVER Typewriter

Model No. 5 Wins World's Applause

This model has captivated the public by its wealth of exclusive features which save time and effort, add scores of new uses, and give tremendous gains in efficiency. The new "coat of mail" protects important working parts from dust, gives added strength and stability. The disappearing indicator shows exact printing point, and ducks when type strikes the paped The Vertical and Horizontal Ruling device is a wonderful convenience.

The Automatic Tabulator and the Line-Ruler are Twin Devices. Each supplements and completes the other, in tabulating, invoicing and all kinds of statistical work. The Balance Shifting Mechanism, the Automatic Paper Fingers, the Paper Register, the Back Spacer and other innovations put the finishing touch of perfection to this incomparable writing machine. You get all these immensely valuable improvements, without additional cost, when you buy the Oliver Typewriter for Seventeen-Cents-a-Day.

Send for Book and "17-Cents-a-Day Offer NOW!

We have told you, very briefly, about the machine and the Plan. Free books giving details in full, are yours for the asking. If you are in business for yourself, make the Oliver your silent partner and it will do its full share towards the development and success of your enterprise. Whether you wish to take advantage of the Seventeen-Cents-a-Day offer or not, you should have a copy of the Oliver Book and become better acquainted with the typewriter that has made itself indispensable to the business world and broken all records in sales. FOR BIG STRIKE

Industrial War Declared in Great Britain.

LABORITES HIT GOVERNMENT

Premier Asquith Offers to Appoint Royal Commission to Make Investigation, But Plan Is Frowned Upon By Union.

London, Aug. 18.—The signal for a general railroad strike was given by fifteen hundred telegrams sent to the secretaries of all local unions of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants.

James Henry Thomas, M. P., Organizing Secretary for the western district of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, stated that war had been declared.

The Labor members of parliament met in the house of commons and adopted resolution supporting the railway men in their action and condemning the government for not bringing pressure on the railroad companies to remedy their grievances.

Hope that the strike on all the railroad lines might be avoided was dashed when the representatives of the unions refused to accept the offer of Premier Asquith, who offered to appoint a royal commission to investigate the working of the conciliation scheme of 1907.

The announcement of this offer and its refusal was made after a long conference held by Premier Asquith, Sydney Bruxton, president of the board of trade, the managers of the different railroads and the executive committee of the Amalgamated Railway Servants' Union.

This had been preceded by a conference of all the members of the union's executive committee with Ramsay McDonald, chairman of the parliamentary labor committee. This latter conference was called to give the members of the union executive committee an opportunity of discussing the situation with Mr. McDonald prevous to the meeting with Mr. Bruxton.

CALM IS PORTENTIOUS

Lawlessness Prevented by Soldiery, and Warships Protect Shipping.

Liverpool, Aug. 18.—The armed soldiery and police alone keep down the lawless. The docks are idle and the streets are thronged with sullen crowds. The business sections are idle and there are warships in the river to protect the shipping. A part of the city is in darkness and the street cars are not running.

All electricity in the hotels, restaurants, shops and theatres was cut off and where there was no gas the primitive candles and the petroleum lamp were made use of.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS OPENED

Government's Proposal Being Considered by British Strikers.

London, Aug. 18.—In the house of commons Lloyd Geirge, the chancellor of the exchequer, announced that both the railway managers and the representatives of the strikers had reopened negotiations and were considering the government's proposal.

The committee, he said, had not given up hope of arriving at a settlement.

ROOSEVELT A GRANDDAD

Theodore, J., Is Presented with Daughter in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 18.—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Mother and child are reported in satisfactory condition.

Since their marriage the Roosevelts have made their home in this city, where Mr. Roosevelt is engaged in business.

Mrs. Roosevelt, Jr., was Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander of New York. Her marriage to the son of the colonel took place at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York city June 20, 1910, and was one of the notable events of that season.

POPE STILL IMPROVING

Appetite Increases and He Is Able to Work at His Desk.

Rome, Aug. 18.—The Pope appeared to be considerably better. He got up at eight o'clock and sat at his desk and attended to business. Afterwards he received Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state.

The pontiff's appetite is increasing and the doctors say he is progressing steadily. They will soon cease their daily visits.

Persian Ex-Shah Murdered?

Teheran Aug. 18.—There is an unconfirmed rumor that the ex-Shah Mohammed Ali, has been murdered. The government commander Sardear Mohee, reports that his troops defeated 3,000 of the ex-Shah's supporters at Firuzkuh in a most important engagement.

Near Rovigo, on the peninsula of Istria, in the Adriatic sea, the ruins of a large town are said to exist at the bottom of the sea. It had been observed for some years that fishermen's nets were sometimes entangled in what appeared to be masses of masonry, of which fragments were brought up from the sea bed, says the Pall Mall Gazette. A diver declared that he had seen walls and streets below the water.

The city authorities decided to investigate. They sent down a diver, who, at the depth of 851 feet, found himself surrounded on the bottom of the sea by the ruined walls, undoubtedly the work of man. Continuing his explorations, he traced the line of walls and was able to distinguish how the streets were laid out. He did not see any doors or window openings, for they were hidden by masses of seaweed and incrustations. He traced the masonry for a distance of 100 feet, where he had to stop, as his diving cord did not permit him to go farther.

Some people think that they identify this lost town with the island mentioned by Pliny the elder under the name of Cissa, near Istria. This island cannot be found now, and it is thought the submerged town may have been a settlement on the island that so mysteriously disappeared.

LIGHT REFLECTION.

The Reason Why Foam Always Appears White In Color.

When water or liquid of any color is violently agitated small bubbles of air are mixed up with it, and thus foam is formed, and its whiteness is due to the fact that when light passes from one medium to another of a different refractive index it is always reflected, and this reflection may be so often repeated as to render the mixture impervious to light.

It is, then, this frequency of the reflections of the limiting surfaces of air and water that renders foam opaque, and as each particle reflects light in all directions so much light is reflected that the mixture appears white.

To a similar cause is due the whiteness of transparent bodies when crushed to powder. The separate particles transmit light freely, but the reflections at their surfaces are so numerous that the resulting effect is white. Thus glass when crushed is a white powder and is opaque, but when it is put under water it once more becomes transparent, because the water fills up the interstices between the particles and the reflections are destroyed. Salt and snow are also common examples of this condition.

How Roots Penetrate Hard Ground.

The extreme tips of a delicate root are protected by a sheath set with minute scales, which as it is worn away by friction against the soil is as constantly replaced, so that it acts as a wedge and the root thread is carried down uninjured. Another aid to penetration lies in the provision whereby the root as it pushes downward in search of nourishment exercises a slightly spiral, screwlike motion which worms its tip into the ground. Another important agent is the acid cell sap, which exudes on to and dissolves to some extent the rock or hard soil. This may be tested by placing a small piece of polished marble in a pot in which a plant is set and covering it with earth. After some weeks the marble will be found to have been corroded by the continuous action of this acid.

Why the Spider Was There.

When Mark Twain in his early days was editor of a Missouri paper a superstitious subscriber wrote to him saying that he had found a spider in his paper and asking him whether that was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist wrote him this answer and printed it:

"Old subscriber—Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Nursery Windows.

If the nursery window is not protected by outside bars hammer a large screw or nail into the groove of the lower sash, so that the window cannot be raised more than six inches. If the top sash is drawn down this is quite enough for ventilation, and, no matter how ingenious or venturesome the little ones may be, they cannot wriggle through the lower opening.—Philadelphia Press.

Maybe Mary Was Too Sedate.

Mrs. Nuwed—Mary, for dinner I think we'll have boiled mutton with caper sauce. Are there any capers in the house? Mary—No, ma'am. Mrs. Nuwed—Then go out in the garden and cut some.—Harvard Lampoon.

Putting In a Sting.

Maud—Jack is telling around that you are worth your weight in gold. Ethel—The foolish boy. Who is he telling it to? Maud—His creditors.—Denver Times.

How He Escaped.

"What do you think. A fellow stole a drum from the orchestra yesterday."

"Did he get off?"

"Yes, saw a cop coming and beat it."—Exchange.

Let us be kind if we wish to be regretted.—Pierre Loti.

Matt Haub, Jr., and sons were visiting in West Brooklyn uesday.

Mrs. William Auchstetter and daughter Flossie returned home on the morning passenger Monday from Dixon where they had been for a few days attending at the Assembly.

George Montavon and family of Lee Center were in ur town Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Henry, Mrs. Frank Herman and J. G. Conschack motored to Mendota Tuesday afternoon for a visit with friends.

G. L. Jeanguenat was visiting his relatives and friends in West Brook lyn Tuesday morning.

Miss Edna Henry went to Aurora Monday morning on the train for a visit during her vacation.

Resigned Position

Mr. G. W. Wilson has resigned his position as clerk in the Daw meat market and is intending to open up a shop of his own if he can find a location. He has his eyes turned t wards Sublette and LaMoille and will try and locate in either of these two places. We hope Mr. Wilson finds a suitable location and that he makes a success of the business when under his own management. His resignation took effect Saturday night and since that time Mr. Daw has been handling the work alone assisted by his wife and father.

No Trains

Saturday night West Brooklyn found themselves without the service of the evening passenger and the night freights for the Lig rain washed out the road bed a few miles west of town so bad that the tracks over them were unpassable. The passenger came as far as West Brook plyn Saturday night about mid-night and then returned to Shabbona from here. All day Saturday and Sunday and part of Monday gravel trains passed through town on their way to repair the damage and fix up the track to permit the regular trains make their runs according to schedule. In all it took 42 cars loads of gravel to fill in the places where he water had washed out. One place the hole was 150 feet long and 40 feet wide and very deep. There were three other holes dug out by the force of the water that also needed er four feet approaching these wash attention. The track sunk down ovouts.

C. E. Mireley was a morning passenger for Shabbona Monday.

F. M. Yocum installed a telephone in the home of John C. Henkel on Wednesday.

Not to Earlville

The base ball team did not make their trip to Earville Sunday as per their plans for the train threatening most all day long it was a doubtful journey to start on for so long a distance. Then the Earville grounds were muddy and only a slow game could have resulted at best owing to this muddy condition of the playing field.

Base Ball

The coming Sunday the base ball team play at home for a change and as there has not been a game for several Sundays a big crowd will be looked for. This time it is the Shabbona team that comes to play our boys and make them exert themselvse to win. The former game between these two teams resulted in a 7 to 8 score in favor of the West Brooklyn and none of us has quite fogotten the exciting game of that afternoon yet when the score was so close and both sides threatening to score some more. Come to this game and see another red hot tussle.

C. E. Mireley was in Shabbona on Monday.

On Vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Oester left Monday for Sheldon, Ia., to visit the family of Mr. Knauer. From there they go to visit their brother, Michael Oester and relatives of Mrs. Oester in various Iowa cities. Otto has a two weeks vacation from Meyers' store.

Our Hustling Engineer.

The city water works engineer, N. J. Bieschke, cleaned the supply tank at the waterworks and found some complaint. He was called down for shutting off the supply for a few hours but the clean water was well worth it.

Nick Hahn was here from Viola Wednesday.

Chris Henkel is on duty again at Meyer's store after two weeks vacation spent in various parts of the state. He reports a pleasant stay of several days at Hennepin.

Finger Hurt.

turning when the little finger of one hand was caught in the pulley and was split about half way and the nail crushed. A doctor dressed the injured member.

New Furniture.

The new furniture for the new school house north of here arrived this week and is stored in the Oester and Auchstetter building until needed. The school house is not completed as yet.

Not Our Fault.

Don't blame us for the shortage of news on the local page in the last issue as it is not our fault the items did not appear as usual. We wrote a lengthy letter as usual and sent the items in the usual way but when the paper appeared in print they were missing. There must have been a break down at the publisher's plant or else some other unavoidable prevention occurred to keep the news from our readers. Accidents will happen although it is seldom with our paper so we trust you will excuse us this time.

F. H. Delhotal and Charles Barr of Lee Center were here Wednesday on business.

Nicholas Meister lost a horse valued at $300 last week belonging to a team he bought at a fancy price. The animal took sick and died in a few hours. It was insured against fire and lightning and cyclones in these ordinary insurance companies but could get no insurance for the loss because their policy only covered those conditions. Nick has called at the bank and taken out livestock insurance, for he says the other insurance does not pay.

Alex Jeanblanc drove over to Sublette Tuesday.

John LaBolle of Somonauk who is surveyor at that place and in West Brooklyn, arrived Tuesday and went to the Flatts to survey the farm occupied by Henry Mcdill and owned by Faltz and Skinner of Somonauk. He has many friends here and is a cousin of Joseph Deloisey. He spent Tuesday night at the Eugene Vincent home.

People should keep off the lawn C. F. Guffin and Herman Knauer have mowed and kept up in front of their residences, but which is out in the street. Buggies could drive up to the edge of the grass and people could alight there out of the dust and mud without having the vehicle cut up the grass and the horse pawing up the ground. It is discouraging to try to keep the lawn beautiful if the careless drivers continue running over it.

Returned From Hospital.

Mrs. Frank Biers returned home Tuesday from St. Charles hospital at Aurora where she has been several weeks. She underwent a serious operation and we welcome her back home again. She was affected with a very dangerous attack of rheumatism necessitating her removal to the hospital for treatment.

H. A. Bernardin, Wm. Auchstetter and Chris Oeste rwent to Chicago Wednesday to see the flights of the birdmen.

Annis Abel went to Compton Wednesday to visit with his sister, Nettie.

There will be no concert on the streets Saturday night as the boys from the country are busy threshing. The rain caused much delay and the concert has to be postponed a week. The boys will try to arrange for a concert Saturday night of next week, but look for the announcement in this paper for it will appear to tell all about it.

An Opportunity.

The Michigan Nursery Co. of Monroe, Mich., one of the oldest and most reliable nursery firms in the country wants a representative in this vicinity. Good wages can be made taking orders for their high grade nursery stock. Write for their terms.

Surveying.

Sounty Surveyor Neighbour was here from Dixon Wednesday surveying the Mrs. Mary S. Johnson farm. He also surveyed the land adjoining the new Water street as opened last spring and laid out a strip into lots for people wishing to build in that addition. This will make a fine building section and many new houses will probably be erected there before many years.

Band Practice.

Prof. W. H. Smith was here from Dixon Tuesday night for band practice and several new marches were practiced. Several of the boys were missing however, and their absence was felt keenly by the professor. Let all the boys try and be on hand as there is hard work for them next month. Remember, band practice is ling winter stock.

B. J. Long was in Amboy Tuesday.

August Kersten and the doctor were here from Ashton Wednesday inan auto.

J. J. Thome finished lathing the Prosper Gander house Monday and that night left for Dixon. Mr. Thome is the champion lather in these parts and when his newspaper duties become rather monotonous he hies out for a few days' exercise by lathing a few houses every hour or two.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Byron Capes Monday, Aug. 14, a boy. All concerned doing nicely and everyone happy.

Show Storm.

The big Burkard's shows were all set ready for their night's stand here Monday when a big thunder and wind storm arose and scattered their tent as if it was an ordinary common flag. It was nearly filled with people and many more had not gotten inside when the incident occurred. Otherwise a monstruos crowd would have greeted the performers and they would have had a good night here. The patrons dispersed every way and direction to dodge the oncoming storm and as a result the show people had many dollars worth of the would-be spectators' money. But they were honest about it and the managed took the coin to Father Edwards of the Catholic church and had him announce to the people at the next day's services that those attending the show could get their mon ey back if they called, for he had it. From West Brooklyn they went to Sublette for the next night. The storm beat them out of $25 or $30 in our town and it is a rather sad thing for a show of that kind to experience.

Dr. E. C. White's family have had for their guests the past week two of the Morey children from Iowa.

Rev. Father Edwards has his sister keeping house for him now. Our temporary pastor is fast becoming acquainted with this congregation and making many friends.

A large crowd attended the Assumption day services in St. Mary's church Tuesday.

Jess Troupe of Sterling was in town Tuesday.

A. M. Bieschke was in Compton Tuesday.

Elmer Litts was repairing telephones in Compton Tuesday after the storm.

Amel Henry and wife drove to Amboy Wednesday for a visit with the latter's parents.

E. N. Swope of the Berg was here Monday.

Russel Craigmiles and Peter Montavon drove to Maytown for a visit Tuesday.

David O. Fairchild was in Amboy Wednesday visiting his daughter, Addie Ross, and children.

Prof. O. M. Moon, formerly principal of the local schools, was here Wednesday.

Misses Mary and Carrie Berscheid left for Davenport Wednesday for an extended visit with friends and relatives.

Two sisters of charity from St. Charles hospital at Aurora are out at Frank Biers' place for a day or two this week.

The village aldermen held a meeting Monday afternoon at the corner of Johnson and Third streets to decide what should be done with the surplus water collecting at the church corner. They decided to fill up the ditch there and will run it back through its old established water course which was near the alley running north in that block of town.

The West Brooklyn Volunteer Fire men held a regular meeting in the city hall Tuesday night.

There is only one real protection for your livestock and that is Livestock insurance. This kind of insurance protects you from loss no matter what it is or how it happens. If your stock is worth insuring at all it is worth insuring well. Your horses are more apt to die from disease or accident than from anything else. This insurance protects you from this branch of losses as well as from every other branch of losses. Don't delay and feel sorry after your horse has died that you failed to have it insured in time. You can never tell when it will die but you know it is sure to die. Call at the bank and ask for Oliver L. Gehant, West Brooklyn, Ill.

EXPECT ARRESTS SOON

Pennsylvania Governor Hot on Trail of Lynchers.

Members of Coatesville Mob to be Punished, Even If They Are Prominent Citizens.

Harrisburg, Aug. 18.—Governor John K. Tener has told District Attorney Robert S. Gawthrop, of Chester county, that the men responsible for the lynching of Zach Walker at Coatesville last Sunday night must be arrested and brought to justice. The governor had the situation at Coatesville canvassed by officers of the state constabulary and made it plain to the prosecutor of Chester county that he must arrest the men who are to blame, no matter what their station in life.

The governor also informed the district attorney that the state police of almost 200 trained men would stand behind him in doing his duty and that if necessary he could depend on a couple of regiments of the state militia. An offer of assistance from the attorney general's department was also made.

District Attorney Gawthrop announced, after a conference, that he had agreed to work in unisionwith the attorney general's department and the state police and left for home. Arrests of prominent men in Coatesville are expected within 24 hours.

BOMBS OF FLOUR

Mock Aero-Naval Battle Is Held in Chicago.

TARGET DIAGRAM OF WARSHIP

Motor Boat Patrol to Aid Aviators in Case They Fall into Lake—Reward for Lost Biplane—Funerals of Aviators.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Chicago had her first opportunity of judging the aeroplane's usefulness in war when a mock aero-naval battle was given at Grant park.

Soaring high in the air the aviators hurled projectiles at the diagram of a battleship marked out, turrets and all, upon the ground at the aviation field. The bombs thrown, instead of being filled with explosives, contained flour. Striking the ground, they burst in a white cloud that resembled an explosion and also marked the spot of contact. In this way the percentage of accuracy which can be attained at various heights was gauged.

In order to add to the safety of aviators forced to descend to the lake, or who might fall into the water, a motor boat patrol was placed on duty by Captain J. C. Cantwell of the United States revenue cutter Tuscarora. Captain Cantwell was assigned to patrol the lake to aid any aviator who might meet with an accident.

Fast power boats from the fleet of the Columbia Yacht club were placed at his service, and the stretch between the Van Buren street gap and the four-mile crib will be carefully guarded.

A reward of $50 was offered by the meet association for anyone who discovers the location of Lee Hammond's Baldwin biplane, which plunged into the lake and sank on Monday. Hammond escaped uninjured, but has been unable to find a trace of his missing machine. The meet association will raise it, providing it can be found, and offers the reward in the hope that fishermen and power boat men will be induced to search for it.

A committee composed of Charles E. Bartley, Frank E. Scott and D. B. Griffith was appointed by the meet association to attend the funeral of St. Croix Johnstone, the aviator who was killed on Tuesday. The association also sent eleborate floral pieces, and flowers were also sent to Pittsburg, where the funeral of William Badger was held.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Turkish Bath Substitute.

Fashionable women have tried an electrified blanket instead of the steaming Turkish bath. This is a series of electrified wires between nonconducting rubber sheets. The electricity which many nervous persons cannot take without becoming numb is not felt, being used merely for heating purposes. When the body is wrapped in an electrified blanket for half an hour profuse perspiration is general without there being any sensation of smothering or headache. The head is left free; only the body is blanketed. The perspiring period is followed by a needle or shower bath made gradually colder, and later by gentle massage and alcohol rub.

FANS WILL SEE THE GAME AT DEKALB

Local fans are much interested in the game between the New York American league team and the DeKalb professionals, to be played at DeKalb next Wednesday afternoon and it is very probable that a large number of the local fans will attend. Manager Killian has sent a lot of posters to be placed here and in a letter to Joe Vaile states that he will have his team strengthened for the game. Manager Chase of the Highlanders has promised to start his crack pitcher, Russell Ford, who is one of the top notchers in the business.

DIXON STARS PLAY IN DEKALB SATURDAY

The Dixon Stars will go to DeKalb tomorrow to play a team in that city and the boys will be strengthened for the contest. Keenan, the Stars' crack little pitcher, is slightly off color at present and wants to rest, therefore E. Whitebread will do the pitching for the Stars. Of course J. Keenan will do the backstopping.

Abandon Paving.

Disgusted absolutely at the attitude of many who were able to pay for the paving of Second street and Commercial alley, the city council this morning passed a resolution abandoning the project and instructing the city attorney to vacate all orders which have been issued in the matter. The attorney was also instructed to prepare an ordinance for the paving of Commerrcial alley.

The commissioners are at a loss to understand the attitude of the opponents, all of whom are said to be well able to pay for the improvement. The city assumed a very large per cent of the cost of the improvement, the assessment roll showing that of $7,771.71, the total cost for the pavement of Second street from Ottawa to Peoria avenue, the city had assumed $3,439.71. This amount represents the cost for the improvement fronting the government building and the city hall and 33 per cent of the rest.

Behind in Paving.

The commissioners call attention to the fact that every other city in this vicinity is away ahead of Dixon in the extent of their paving, and also state that in many of the cities the property owners have paid nearly all the cost. However, the present council, convinced that the people in the business section do not wish good streets, will spend the money which they had hoped to put in pavement in the residence district.

ADMIRES PASTOR RUSSELL'S BOOK.

"The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every One Should Read It.

Atlanta Constitution says—"This wonderful book makes no assertions that are not well sustained by the Scriptures. It is built up stone by stone, and upon every stone is the text, and it becomes a pyramid of God's love, and mercy, and wisdom. There is nothing in the Bible that the Author denies or doubts, but there are many texts that he throws a flood of light upon that seems to uncover their meaning."

It Comforts the Bereaved.

"Bill Arp" says—"It is impossible to read this book without loving the writer and pondering his wonderful solution of the great mysteries that have troubled us all our lives. There is hardly a family to be found that has not lost some loved one who died outside the church—outside the plan of saivation, and, if Calvinism be true, outside of all hope and inside of eternal torment and despair."

Longest Family Tree.

The biggest family tree in the world is believed to be the one which traces the genealogy of Queen Elizabeth back to King David and thence to Adam, or at least as near to Adam as one could get. The coat of arms is given in almost every case, with full particulars of the dates of births and deaths. The labor of providing coats of arms is abandoned before Methuselah's time, but the chart measures forty-five feet and certainly does take one through a maze of nobility.

An Afterthought.

"Ye-es," remarked a young husband at breakfast, "these biscuits are pretty good, but don't you think there ought to be a little more"—

"Your mother made them," interrupted the wife quickly.

—"of them?" ended the husband, with a flash of inspiration.

DEMENT TOWN DOINGS

Five exira cops and a burglary over a front transom. Hejup.

Talking about the peculiarities of human nature. Did you ever notice that a wise man will tinker with a dull lawn mower all summer before he'll have it sharpened?

If some of the successful women lawyers wear the present style of tight gowns we can see their finish. They will be unable to make any motions to the court.

There is mourning in the house of Allen. After seeing her picture in the column last evening Maria Angelica, their pet kittie, ran away. However, Jeemes is not going to withdraw the animal but will hire a detective to locate her. We would suggest he publish a promise to feed the cat more regularly.

Siebolt went to see the sham battle this a. m. His friends had no fear of his getting shot at the battlegrounds, but were not so optimistic as to what might happen to him on his way back.

Incidentally, Siebolt absent mindedly said "Kiss me" to a young lady who gave him some change the other day, instead of "Thank you." And the worst part of the incident is his wife overheard the remark.

Talk about an ungrateful world. A man is no sooner dead and planted than his family rushes to the newspaper with a card of thanks.

More Entries.

Our contest is sure the big thing. Never before has anything aroused such interest on the ave. Even the successful oiling of the street is forgotten. The Doings' Solid Gold contest is on everyone's tongue. Proud people of hastening daily to the photographer to have pictures taken of their dear little pets. And that before the details of the contest have been announced, viz: what it's going to cost to enter.

Jeemes Allen's coup is getting Maria Angelica's picture in ahead of all others, has aroused no end of jealousy and Mr. Allen may expect to find a persistent battle against the cat with the awful smile and the foghorn yowl.

Mr. Allen this morning submitted a phonograph record of his cat's yowl, which shows that the cat sang one so cgnontinuously for 49 minutes and 53 seconds Sunday evening. We are presenting herewith a picture of the phonygraff that did the taalking.

Other entries today were:

Hungry Pete, white dog owned by Goodman.

Xlyophone, so named because of the prominence of his ribs, Mayor Valle's bodyguard.

Whisper, many-colored cat of W. C. Jones, name derived by listening to the cat at 1 a. m.

No votes will be announced until next week. So therefore get busy and collect all your friends' junk. These votes are going to cost you this way:

For month sub to this col. 1,000,000,000
For year's sub 25,000,000,000

To make out at both ends we find we'll have to maintain our present high price for the col. If you can't sting your friend for 25c a month, take him for 20, and if that's too high keep coming down. You can even give it to him, but for the love of Mike don't pay him to take it.

Remember, your success depends upon your ability to work your friends. Don't be timid. Have a lot of nerve. Buckle right into them and ask them for their money. If they won't give it to you, take it away from 'em. This contest was devised simply to give all a change to slip one over on someone else.

HE STOPPED SHORT.

Reason For the Peculiar Signature on the Hotel Register.

Many peculiar signatures in the course of a season find themselves upon the register of a hotel. There are foreign fists of all sorts in script that none but the Kytka could unravel. The most curious of all, however, was placed on the book only recently. It is this:
"Wm."
Only that and nothing more!
There is no surname, no address, nothing at all but just "Wm."
This is the way it happened:
A well dressed man entered the hotel the other day and followed his bags to the desk. The register was swung around into position for him and a pen handed him by the gentlemanly desk clerk. Then, in a free, swinging hand, he wrote the accepted abbreviation of his first name, "Wm."
As if a thought had suddenly occurred to him, he stopped writing and looked up.
"What do you charge for a single room here by the day?" he asked.
"Three, four, five and six dollars," answered the clerk.
"Ain't you got no dollar rooms?"
"No, we have no dollar rooms. Three, four, five and six."
"Gosh!" he said, and he didn't look the part either. "This is no place for me. Gimme my luggage."
And he sneaked out of the hotel as one who had trodden on sacred ground.
Which is why on the register today is the odd signature:
"Wm."—San Francisco Chronicle.

ERIN'S ANCIENT KINGS.

Untimely Death Was the Rule For Monarchs of Old Ireland.

'Tis ould Ireland can bate them all, begorra, when it comes to talkin' of kings and coronations! For there was probably a king of Ireland when Noah was building his ark. There certainly was one in 1300 B. C. To be sure, though, Ireland's ancient monarchs mostly came to unhappy ends, either dying of the plague, being assassinated or killed in battle, says London Answers.
For instance, King Lughaidh, who reigned in the second century, was killed by being thrust through the eye with a spear during a conspiracy. His successor, Feargus, was assassinated by order of the next comer, Cormac-Ulfhada, who, however, was merely choked to death by a fish bone at supper.
"Slain by his successor," indeed, was the fate of very many Irish kings, but of Congal Clonmaghair, who died in 693, it is simply but eloquently recorded that he "died suddenly." He was a "cruel persecutor of the Irish church." In 398 King Dathy was killed by a thunderbolt, while King Connor died of grief in 837. And one of the greatest of them all, the valiant Brian Boroihme, was assassinated in 1014 while at prayer after he had defeated the Danes at Clontarf.
It is hardly surprising to learn that four of Erin's kings resigned their crowns to become peaceful, cloistered monks.

The Magnetic Needle.

There are two places on the earth's surface where the magnetic needle must point due south. They are not easy places to reach. One is in the arctic regions north of the northern magnetic pole, on the line between that pole and the geographical north pole. The other is in the antarctic regions, south of the southern magnetic pole, on the line between that spot and the geographical south pole. In the first case the point of the needle is attracted to the northern magnetic pole. In the second case the other end of the needle is attracted to the southern magnetic pole.

Reasonable Fear.

"John, is that you?"

BIBLE STUDIES

BLESSED ARE THE PERSECUTED
Jeremiah 37—Aug. 20
"Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely for My sake."—Matthew 5:11.

PERSECUTION implies that the person or thing persecuted possessed some qualities or powers that are feared. When the persecution is for religion it proves that the persecutor realizes his own weakness to meet the argument in a more rational way.
Today's study draws our attention to the persecutions endured by one of the Lord's faithful Prophets. He was a patriot in the highest sense of the word in that he looked for the highest good for his nation along the lines of Divine wisdom. His principle was "God First," and he well knew that only this procedure could bring Divine blessings to his nation. He was of course misunderstood by the king and his counsellors. They did not like him because he told the truth, fearlessly—they preferred prophets who would tell them of their own wisdom, greatness and the success of their policies.

Jeremiah imprisoned.

At the time of this study Zedekiah was on the throne. He was a vassal to Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Chaldeans, whose seat of empire was to the north. Hoping for assistance from Egypt on the south, Judah revolted, contrary to the warning of the Lord through Jeremiah. The Chaldeans laid siege, and the Egyptian army started for their deliverance.
Yet Jeremiah persisted in declaring as at first that the end of the kingdom was near, that they would be swallowed up in Babylon.

Faithful Jeremiah Persecuted

When the Chaldean army had withdrawn from the siege, Jeremiah concluded to cast his lot with some of the nation living outside the city walls—in the portion of the tribe of Benjamin. Attempting to do this he was arrested on the charge of disloyalty—that he had given himself over to cowork with the Chaldeans against the interests of his own land. Although he denied the charge he was put into prison.
Jerusalem was honeycombed with underground cisterns and vaults, arched overhead, and these were called "cabins." They were designed to be reservoirs for water in time of drought or of siege. The bottoms of these "cabins," or cisterns, after the removal of the water, were frequently deep with mud and slime. The next chapter tells us of the terrible condition of the dungeon into which Jeremiah was put. We read, "They let down Jeremiah with cords, and in the dungeon there was no water but mire; so Jeremiah sunk in the mire." When finally they drew him out they took "old cast off clouts and rotten rags and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah," who put them under his arms and was drawn up by the cords. In this dungeon the Prophet remained "many days."

Blessed Are They Who Are Persecuted For Righteousness' Sake

We are reminded of others who were put in prison for righteousness' sake Saints Peter and John, Saints Paul and Silas The world can never understand the power which, operating in these men, enabled them to rejoice in persecutions. With their backs bleeding from the whips of torture and hands and feet fast in the stocks, they were yet able to sing praise to God for the privilege they enjoyed of suffering with Christ, suffering for righteousness' sake, and thus filling up a share of the afflictions of Christ. Such characters we are to emulate. We are to understand that such joy and peace in the midst of sorrow and persecution can come only from the Lord.

The king's private consultation.

The Master's words in our text apply yesterday, today and tomorrow—so long as the reign of evil is permitted—"Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely for My sake." But to be worthy of this blessing, and to receive it means to develop and possess a character which the enemies of righteousness would deem worthy of persecution. The Scriptures declare that persecution will be the portion of the faithful people of God through this Age—until the establishment of the Kingdom of Messiah. Under the new regime suffering for righteousness will not be possible. Mark the Master's words, "Whosoever will live godly in this present time shall suffe persecution." To live godly means, not merely to abstain from vicious and overt sin, but to be a hero in the strife, a defender of the right and an opposer of the wrong—a servant of righteousness, a soldier of the cross.

Clean Bread for Clean Children

MOST bread is handled too much. Even your home-made product suffers by it. But HOLSUM comes in a spotless dress of paraffined paper, brought to you without contact of hands. The loaves, piping hot, are allowed to cool on the trays as they leave the oven. Then they are wrapped in their dainty white wrapper. This is one of the reasons for the superiority of

HOLSUM BREAD

If exposed to the air, HOLSUM would lose its flavor and oven freshness. This is the reason for the care we take to preserve it fresh for your table, this is why HOLSUM is wrapped as daintily and carefully as a box of bon bons. The ingredients, too, are the purest and best that the market affords. And in equipment, and high-class labor, HOLSUM is the paragon of breads, and a mark for imitation.

NIPPED IN BUD

President Vetoes It in Special Message to House.

LACKS INFORMATION UPON IT

Indication Is Clear That President Taft Will Veto Every Tariff Bill That Comes To Him Before December.

Washington, Aug. 18.—A special message vetoing the wool bill enacted through the Democratic-insurgent combination was sent to the house of representatives by President Taft.

The president, as has generally been predicted, vetoed the bill on the ground that he has no scientific information on which to act. The president indicated clearly enough that he will veto every tariff bill sent to him in advance of a report by the tariff board. His message ought to help clear the situation in congress. The president said in his message:

"I was elected to the presidency as the candidate of a party which in its platform declared its aim and purpose to be to maintain a protective tariff by 'the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries.' I have always remembered this language as fixing the proper measure of protection at the ascertained difference between the cost of production at home and that abroad, and have construed the reference to the profit of American industries as intended not to add a new element to the measure stated or to exclude from cost of production abroad the element of a manufacturer's or producer's profit but only to emphasize the importance of including in the American cost a manufacturer's or producer's profit reasonable according to the American standard."

The president reviews the history of the movement for the creation of the tariff board: "In order to show that the real advance and reform in tariff making are to be found in the acquiring of accurate and impartial information as to the effect of the proposed tariff changes under each schedule before they are adopted and further to show that if delay in the passage of a bill to amend schedule K can be had until December, congress will then be in possession of a full and satisfactory report upon the whole schedule."

The president says: "If ever there was a schedule that needed consideration and investigation and elaborate explanation by experts before its amendment, it is schedule K."

SENATE PASSES COTTON BILL

Several Amendments by Democratic Senators Are Voted.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The senate passed the house cotton bill with certain amendments proposed by the Democrats. Among the amendments adopted was one by Senator Bacon, revising the iron and steel schedule.

Other amendments adopted were by Senator Watson of West Virginia, reducing the duty on coal; by Senator Reed of Missouri, reducing all duties in the Payne bill to 30 per cent; by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, putting machinery used in the cotton industry on the dutiable list at 30 per cent and by Senator Overman, revising the chemical schedule to reduce duties on chemicals used in the cotton manufacturing industry.

Conference Reports Agreed To.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The house agreed to the conference report on the free list and campaign publicity bills.

Free List Bill Up To President.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The free list bill was agreed to in both houses and will go to the president for his veto.

Will Be Squarely Before Illinois People at Election.

In Public Statement Drys Are Told to Go Slowly in Picking Their Candidates.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The liquor question promises to be a live issue in the impending state wide primary contest and in the general election to follow. The Illinois Anti-Saloon league forces have sounded their first warning that they intend to make it so and politicians who see the "wet" and "dry" question involved in factional disturbances are not attempting to hide their alarm.

E. A. Scrogin, state superintendent of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league, has issued a public statement to the "drys." "The situation is vital to the immediate future of the temperance cause of Illinois. It will be more important than ever for the temperance element to stand together as a test. Division will absolutely insure defeat," he says.

The superintendent who has been schooled in the game of practical politics, asks the "drys" to go slow in picking candidates and urges them not to commit theemselves "until the political atmosphere has cleared and we have been able to ascertain who are the friends of local option and entitled to support."

His statement closes as follows: "It is plain enough that if the temperance forces are divided in their support of candidates their chances of victory are by so much lessered and imperiled. Let us use good political judgment and withhold decision and our support of candidates until we have found out where the candidates stand on the local option proposition and until we discover on whom the temperance folk can best unite. We believe that the conditions and the prospects are much more favorable to the local option cause than for a long time, but unity and concentration of effort and support are absolutely necessary if we are to win."

HOLD UP "L" STATION

Ticket Agent Is Severely Beaten by Masked Men.

Robbers Get $130 in Cash, And Are Unseen by Passengers on Passing Train.

Chicago, Aug. 18. — Three masked bandits held up the Fifty-second avenue station of the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated railroad, clubbed W. H. Scott, the ticket agent, into insensibility with the butt end of their revolvers, and escaped with the receipts, amounting to $130.

While the struggle between the bandits and the plucky cashier was going on, an east-bound train passed on the opposite track.

Just as the train entered the station the cashier was felled to the ground and a hand placed over his mouth to prevent him from calling for help. The train went on without any of the passengers having witnessed the attack upon Scott.

As the victim lay upon the floor he was beaten until he became unconscious. Then the cash was taken.

Scott was found half an hour later. His head was a mass of cuts and bruises. He was taken to his home 1951 Spaulding avenue.

The daring robbery occurred shortly after 3 a. m. The holdup men had crawled into the station without being noticed by Scott. Suddenly he was confronted by the three men, all of whom wore masks. One of the men, who carried a revolver, thrust the weapon into his face and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Instead of complying Scott knocked the man's hand aside, and clinched with his assailants. The struggle which followed was brief.

Later Scott informed the Austin police that his assailants were young men. All were dressed in black, two wearing straw hats and the man with the revolver wearing a derby.

After many miles had been covered, the chauffeur and two other occupants of the car fought with the madman and finally overpowed him, receiving injuries in the battle.

VICTIMS OF HUMOR.

Proctor Knott and "Sunset" Cox Bewailed Their Funny Tags.

The late Proctor Knott seems to be remembered chiefly as the author of the facetious Duluth speech, says the New York World. Yet he was a great lawyer, and as chairman of the house committee on the judiciary he had to do with serious and vastly important affairs. Mr. Knott's single appearance as a humorist fixed his reputation for all time, and no amount of profoundly serious work could change it.

Samuel S. Cox had a similar experience with greater reason, for in early life he had cultivated the risibles quite devotedly. Mr. Knott lived long enough to perceive that he was to be identified not with learning or public service, but with an oratorical exaggeration, and Mr. Cox found in his maturity that the speakership, the goal of his career, was denied him because it was no place for a funny man.

Although never a humorist, Proctor Knott accomplished something with satire and irony in which most men fail. He made himself understood. Everbody knew that he was joking. Nobody ever demanded an explanation of his remarks on Duluth or a retraction or an apology. From that viewpoint, therefore, he was one of the successful men of his generation.

MARK ANTONY'S TRICK.

It Worked Like a Charm Till Cleopatra Learned the Secret.

According to Plutarch, Cleopatra was a votary of the piscatorial art, and so keen did the rivalry become between her and Antony that he resorted to the meanest artifices to insure victory. Mortified and irritated by the queen's superiority, he engaged divers to take live fish and place them on his hook. This was done so expertly that he pulled up fish after fish in rapid succession. Learning in some way the secret of his sudden success, Cleopatra pretended to congratulate him and to admire his dexterity, and at the same time she devised a cunning means of revenge.

Another match was arranged, and the fishing began in the presence of a large company of friends. Antony soon had a bite and pulled up a large salted fish to his great disgust and amid the loud laughter of all present. The secret was out; Antony's trick was exposed, and once more woman's wit had proved too much for man's ingenuity. A diver, specially instructed by the queen, had got the start of Antony's and attached the salt fish to his hook.—Mathews in "Angling."

The Yellowstone Wonders.

Dr. Arnold Hague shows that there is a strong contrast between the geological conditions connected with the geysers of Iceland and those of the Yellowstone park. Volcanic eruptions may be said geologically to be still going on in Iceland, while in the Yellowstone such action ceased many thousands of years ago. The Yellowstone phenomena as seen today represent a phase in the evolution of thermal springs. The tendency of a geyser is to develop a hot surface pool, after which explosive action may cease and the geyser, as such, become extinct, but this is a very slow process. Dr. Hague rejects the idea that the cessation of activity in a geyser indicates the dissipation of the original source of heat and ascribes it simply to a shifting of the channel of the ascending waters.

Money In the Laundry.

Three little heaps of silver and copper coin lay on the laundryman's counter.

"That is money that I have just found tied in the corners of customers' handkerchiefs," he said. "It is strange that with all the purses and hand bags manufactured for the accommodation of women so many of them will still tie their money up in a handkerchief. Sending it to the laundry is funnier still. Every day we dig out a little pile of unsuspected wealth, and many a careless customer gets her laundry back with nearly enough money in the package to pay the bill."—New York Sun.

Protected Against Bores.

To save himself from loss of time caused by callers who are a long while in coming to the point, a Paris functionary has had put on his office table a card bearing the words: "Be so good as to abstain from speaking of my health or the weather or of the bourse quotations, three subjects with which I am perfectly well acquainted. Start at once on the matter that brings you here."—London Telegraph.

Philip's Reminder.

Philip, father of Alexander, had a servant whose sole business it was to remind him that he was human. It is said accordingly that he never went from the house and, having returned, never gave audience to any one without first this servant would say to him three times in a loud voice, "Philip, thou art but a man!"

Awfully Agonizing.

"He told me my operation would be absolutely painless."

"And wasn't it?"

"Naw, it cost me a hundred dollars!"—Houston Post.

Reduced Rate.

Beggar—Please, mister, a dime for a poor blind man. Old Gentleman—But you are only blind in one eye. Beggar—All right, make it a nickel then.—Exchange.

The price of true success is patient toil. Never give up until you have tried every means to attain your end.

Water Necessary For Crops.

A grass plant will in the course of a hot day exhale its own weight of water, and a young leaf of wheat or rye exposed to the sun may even exhale its own weight in an hour. Experiments summarized by Storer indicate that "more than 300 pounds of water pass through a plant and are transpired from its leaves for every pound of dry matter fixed or assimilated by the plant." In Wisconsin, King found the mean amount of water used by barley, oats, corn, clover, peas and potatoes in producing a ton of dry matter ranged from 270 tons for corn to 576 tons for clover, "the average for the six crops being nearly 450 tons, or four acre inches for each ton of dry matter."—Agricultural Department Year Book.

GOOD FORMS OF CUSTOM

Good table manners show good breeding quite as much as conversation, or, in fact, any form of etiquette. At first impulse it seems almost unnecessary to give instructions concerning details of behavior at the table. But the offenses against convention we all see at times prove that every one does not know exactly what constitutes good conduct at meals.

Quiet eating might, it would seem, be taken for granted. Yet I know a family of charming girls who all eat noisily, apparently never thinking or never having been taught that one of the first essentials of table manners is to keep the lips closed while chewing.

It is essential to utter a word against the habit of mixing the food together on the plate, of crumbling bread into the soup, of taking large mouthfuls, of dipping dry or butter toast or biscuit in tea or coffee, of sucking up liquid from a spoon, or of preparing all the food at once, cutting up meat, buttering vegetables, mashing potatoes. All these things one sees done constantly, but they are none the less breaches of good manners.

While a meal is in progress it is ill bred to put the elbows on the table, trifle with the knives and forks, or clink glasses together. When not actively employed in eating, the hands should lie quietly in the lap, for nothing so marks the well bred man or woman as a reposeful bearing at table. It is an evidence of careless training to hold knife and fork together in the air when the plate is passed up to the host or hostess for a second helping, or, when pausing in the process of eating, to rest the tip of the knife and fork on the plate's edge and their handles on the cloth. When not in active service both these utensils must remain resting wholly on the plate, and at the conclusion of a course they should be placed together, their points touching the center of the plate, their handles resting on the plate's edge.

A mouthful of meat, vegetable, or dessert should never be taken up by fork or spoon and held in midair while conversation is carried on. As soon as food is lifted from the plate it should be put into the mouth.

In most instances the woman precedes the man in entering a car or other vehicle or in entering a room, whether the occasion is formal or otherwise. At a wedding or a reception this rule is imperative, but in church or the theatre it is permissible for a man to precede a woman, waiting, upon his arrival at the seat, for his companion to pass in ahead of him. The same rule does not apply in descending from a car or carriage, on which occasions a man's assistance is expected. In entering a cafe or public dining room the man leads the way, save in exceptional cases where the woman is guided by the waiter to the table, to be followed in turn by her escort.

In passing through a heavy door a man may advance in front, so that he may have the opportunity of holding the door open for the woman to pass through.

In entering an elevator the woman has precedence and the man removes his hat—sometimes. The rule isn't always observed in office buildings, and in any building devoted to business it is a moot question. I think that the man ought not to feel compelled to remove his hat, and that his failure to do so should not be considered a breach of good form. But if he does so, it is a delicate sign of deference.

As a rule a man precedes a woman up a staircase, and in decending he follows.

When a man is a woman's escort and they board a street car, she should, of course, allow him to pay her fare. When they get on the same car by chance she should make the move to pay her fare, but if the man objects and hands the money for her fare to the conductor she should make no comment, but simply bow and say "Thank you." It is bad form to dispute about who shall pay carfare.

Real gentlemen seldom continue to sit in a street car while a woman stands. A woman should always acknowledge this courtesy by saying "Thank you," cordially and audibly. The omission of this courtesy is severely criticised by men.

I have seen many women refuse to take the seat politely resigned by a man because they were going to ride only a few block farther. This is rude and discourteous, for it usually makes the man feel extremely uncomfortable. A woman should accept the offered seat even if she has only one block to ride.

All passengers in a street car should be prompt and obliging about moving up and making room for other persons. They should be careful to avoid crowding or pushing against other persons or sitting on their clothing, when taking a seat. Men should get off the steps of a crowded car platform when a woman is about to leave the car.

It is hardly necessary to say that a woman when stepping off a car should face in the same direction as that in which the car is going. She should also take hold of the front rail of the car platform.

Be careful in carrying bundles and umbrellas through a crowded street car to hold them in such a way that they will not discommode other passengers.

Traveling is one of the severest tests of good breeding. Ladies and gentlemen who are worthy of the name will behave as well abroad as at home.

At any time it is decidedly inconsiderate to open a window on that side of the coach from which the cinders and smoke, flying from the engine, cannot fail to pour in upon the other travelers. A person should politely ask the strangers in close proximity if the opening of the window is likely to cause them any discomfort.

When a window is raised without deference to any one's wishes, and some nearby traveler politely objects, it should be lowered immediately and without impatience.

It is always bad form, when traveling, to discuss the affairs, the disposition, or the mistaken doings of friends, acquaintances, and relations, or to mention the names of those absent ones whose mistakes and errors are undergoing a great deal of more or less kindly criticism.

A man may buy the tickets and assist in checking the luggage of a woman who is under his charge; he should also give her her choice of seats, put her bundles in the rack, offer to get her refreshments, newspapers, magazines, or books, and ask her, in the course of a journey of several hours, whether she would not like to walk up and down the platform at the stations.

As a usual thing, it is best for a woman and particularly a woman traveling alone, to avoid all communication with strangers, as she cannot know into what complications and trouble it may lead her.

A well bred person is never a restless passenger. He does not move up and down the aisles an unnecessary number of times, turning in his seat to stare at those strangers seated behind him, and rearranging his belongings many times in an hour. Self-control is one of the outward and visible signs of a good traveler; an experienced one does not discuss his private affairs in a loud tone of voice, laugh loudly, or presume to take an undue interest in his fellow passengers.

THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE

A SUBJECT ABOUT which men concern themselves very much, and women not at all, is being the head of the house.

As long as a woman is permitted to do as she pleases and run the home as she likes, she doesn't care three whoops who is its titular and official head. Indeed many foxy ladies find it a great convenience to parade the fact that they are mere slaves and vassals without authority. Nothing is at once so admirable and so unanswerable as an excuse for not doing the things she doesn't want to do, as for a wife to meekly say, "My husband will have meat three times a day," or "Really, Mrs. Smithers, I should just LOVE TO ENTERTAIN THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY, but my husband won't permit me to do it.

Men, however, do not take this casual and frivolous view of being the head of the house. To a man it is a matter of solemn import and great dignity. It is his most cherished perquisite, the thing for which he marries, and works, and toils and perspires.

The Georgia supreme court has just decided this point of who is the head of the house in an interesting mediaeval way. In a certain lawsuit it was shown that a woman was the breadwinner of a family and that her husband was a drunken and worthless loafer. The woman paid the rent of the house and supported her husband, nevertheless the court decided that he was the head of the house.

But why should this question as to who is the head of the house ever be raised, either publicly or privately? Of course, the law will answer, in order to have some one who is legally responsible for the family. But why should not a husband and a wife stand equally responsible in authority and in obligation before the law as the two members of a business firm do?

That plan works out all right in commercial life, and, after all, marriage is nothing but a partnership in which two people agree to pool their entire capital and work together for their mutual good and profit as long as they shall live. Why should one of these partners be given authority over the other merely because he happens to wear trousers, while the other wears skirts?

When all is said, though, matrimony is not an absolute monarchy.

If it is happy it is a joyous democracy in which both husband and wife are free and equal, and in which they share equally in its burdens and responsibilities and its pleasures and its privileges.

Fortunate the house that has no head, and in which neither husband nor wife says "I," but "We."

THE REASON.

"What is Jack Summers fretting about?"

"Afraid his wife can come back."

Cream Puffs

One cup of hot water, one half cup butter; boil together and while boiling stir in one cup of flour dry. Take from the oven and stir to a thin paste and after this cools stir in three eggs unbeaten. Stir in five minutes. Drop in tablespoonfuls on buttered tin and bake in a quick oven 25 minutes opening the oven door no oftener than is necessary and being careful that they do not touch each other in pan. This amount makes twelve puffs. Cut on the side with sharp knife and fill with whipped cream.

Foulards are combined with plain silks extensively. Rarely do we see a silk dress of entirely one kind of material. It is indeed a season of remnants.

VERIFY IT.

THE PROOF IS IN DIXON ALMOST AT YOUR DOOR.

The public statement of a Dixon citizen is in itself strong proof of Dixon people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Dixon citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Mrs. W. H. Randall, 423 College Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our home with the best of results and I feel that I cannot praise them too highly. One member of our family suffered for some time from backache and severe pains across the kidneys and found great difficulty in stooping. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Leake Bros.' & Co.'s Drug Store brought prompt relief, removing all symptoms of kidney complaint. We value this remedy very highly. Statement given April 14, 1909).

A Lasting Effect.

On January 11, 1910, Mrs. Randall said: "Doan's Kidney Pills made a permanent cure in the case of a member of our family. I still have great confidence in this remedy and willingly permit the further publication of my former statement in its favor."

CHINA DEMANDS BIG INDEMNITY

Asks Mexico for Damages for Personal and Property Loss.

$32,300,000 IS SUM SOUGHT

Shung Ai Sune, Chinese Charge d'Affairs, Says Claim Will Be Paid Soon—Oppressions of Celestials Continue.

El Paso, Aug. 18.—China has officially demanded $32,300,000 (Mex.) from Mexico for the damage done to the property and persons of her subjects during the late revolution.

Shung Ai Sune, Charge d'Affaires in Mexico for China, is very positive that the claim is going to be paid. "China must be paid," he said.

Mr. Sune says the Chinese claims will be paid within three months. He has talked with President De La Barra and also with Madero. Both have agreed to use their best efforts in having the claims awarded. The payment of $100.00 per head is a bit above the market price for Chinese persons as rated on the unofficial market of the border smugglers, but that is what the Chinese government is demanding.

Simultaneously with the arrival here of Mr. Sune, comes the information from Torreon that the persecution of the Chinese has not stopped. A special from Torreon says:

Repeated raids are made on the local Chinese gardens by people of the lower classes, who take with them carts, which they fill with the choicest vegetables. If the Chinamen on guard shows any curiosity he finds himself looking down the barrel of a pistol. For this reason many Chinese have refused to work and the gardens are being rapidly depleted. This will produce a vegetable famine shortly.

SENSATION BY WILEY

Says Ruling Against "Corn Syrup" Was Changed.

Three Members of the Cabinet Are Accused by Chief Chemist Before Committee.

Washington, Aug. 18. — Dr. H. W. Wiley, the pure-food expert, added another sensation to the house inquiry into agricultural affairs when he declared that a ruling adverse to the "corn syrup" manufacturing interests, promulgated by the bureau of chemistry, the food and drug inspection board and Secretary Wilson himself, had suddenly been changed into a favorable opinion without being referred to him or his associates.

"All the board joined in the decision," Dr. Wiley said, "and the decision was approved by the secretary. This decision was sent to the printing office, was set up and proofs taken, but it was never sent out.

"Later an exactly contrary decision was published by the three members of the cabinet vested with the jurisdiction in such matters, as a pure-food decision under the food and drugs act.

"In the interval between the preparation of our decision and the publication of the ruling by the three secretaries I know that the Corn Products company was very busy."

ARKANSAS MAN A SUICIDE

Kills Himself in New York Hotel—Ill With Nervous Complaint.

New York, Aug. 18.—Charles Nathan, a neurasthenic clothing merchant from Fort Smith, Ark., who arrived at the hotel Cumberland, on Sunday last in charge of a woman physician, sat in a poker game and played a good hand. In the morning he killed himself by sending a bullet into his left temple. His body, lying on the floor of a clothes closet with a revolver under the left arm and his head resting on a pillow he had made of his garments, was found when the hotel engineer broke into the room.

Nathan was thirty-four years old and one of three brothers owning stores in Springfield, Mo., Fort Smith, Ark., and Texarkana. He had charge of the Fort Smith branch and according to a relative was well to do.
